INSIGNIA and UNIFORM CHANGES

THE NATIONAL EXECUTIVE BOARD, on recommendation of the Committee on Insignia and Uniform, has authorized the following changes:

UNIVERSAL ATTENDANCE

PIN: In the interest of simplification, the Boy Scout attendance pin, in use for more than thirty years, has been broadened to cover Cub Scout and Explorer service. The following regulation is now in effect: "Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers may wear a Universal Attendance Pin. The requirements for qualifying for such a pin shall be determined by the respective Unit committees and Unit leaders, and that the years of regular attendance be cumulative from Cub Scouting up through Exploring, and furthermore that this insignia be restricted to 'boy' personnel."

JAMBOREE PATCHES: Scouts, Explorers and leaders who attended the Third National Jamboree are reminded to change the position of the Jamboree patch. According to regulations, the Jamboree patch is worn on the right pocket during the Jamboree but afterwards, on the right breast above the pocket. Only one such badge (National or World Jamboree) may be worn in either location.

REGIONAL PATCHES: Present regulations dealing with the wearing of Regional patches were amended to read as follows (amendment in italics):

"Regional patches may be worn centered on the right sleeve of the uniform coat or shirt 2" below the shoulder seam, by members of Regional Committees, Regional and Local Council Executive Staff members, and temporarily by such other adult Scouters on specific Regional assignments (such as a Jamboree) as may be approved by the Regional Executive. Regional patches may not be worn by Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts or Explorers."

There will be another column of Uniform and Insignia changes in the January issue of SCOUTING Magazine.
