

UNITS DOUBLED IN THREE YEARS. That's the record of the East Side District in St. Paul, Minnesota. The district organization and extension committee keeps a perpetual inventory of institutions without units and contacts them regularly. The prospect list of eighty-six had thirty-two other institutions on it three years ago which now sponsor units.

LIFE IN PUERTO RICO. The Puerto Rico Council offers an unusual Good Turn to Cub Scout leaders in making available kits of useful, authentic material for the November Cub Scout theme. Packages will contain items to give color and atmosphere to den and pack meetings: bamboo neckerchief slides, Puerto Rican flag, native musical instruments, and other fascinating material. The following kits are available: individual Cub Scout package, $1.00; den package, $2.50; de luxe den package, $5.00. Add 10% for postage. Orders should be sent, as early as possible, to Life in Puerto Rico, Post Office Box 4808, San Juan, Puerto Rico.

BOOK MOVERS. When the Glenview, Illinois, Public Library was ready to move to a new building, officials called in the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts. Each Scout took half a dozen books off the shelves. Keeping in line, the Scouts walked a few blocks and put the books on the new shelves without ever getting the books out of place. The thousand dollars saved bought more books.

POLAR EXPLORER. From this group of seven picked Explorers one was chosen to accompany the forthcoming United States Antarctic expedition this fall. These seven, finalists from a much larger group representing every region in the country, convened in New York City to meet the selection committee. With them (center) is Dr. Paul Siple, who was the Scout who accompanied the 1928 Byrd Antarctic Expedition. Siple and others on the selection committee chose Explorer Richard Lee Chappell (inset) of Egbertsville, New York, to make the trip. Chappell, an Eagle Scout and honor high school student, has been accepted by Princeton University, but will defer his entrance until his return from the expedition. Pictured left to right are: Chappell; John Clark of Sycamore, Illinois; H. Kent Frewing of Vancouver, Washington; Dr. Siple; Stewart Gillmore, Jr., of Kansas City, Missouri; Keith Goering of Neodesha, Kansas; James Heavener of Charleston, West Virginia; and Jere Hodshire of Prairie Village, Kansas.

INTERNATIONAL SERVICE GROUPS. Frank R. Horton mails three hundred letters to Rotary clubs in college towns in eighty-nine nations and all forty-eight United States. Bearing the international service club's golden anniversary greetings, letters recommend Alpha Phi Omega, international Scouting service fraternity, as a youth program for Rotarians to promote in colleges. Horton is a founder of A.P.O.
